VTech and Xorcom Enhance Integration of PBX and IP Phones
Latest VTech SIP phone models added to CompletePBX product line auto-provisioning tool

5 May 2016, London – VTech Telecommunications Limited (VTech), a wholly owned subsidiary of VTech Holdings Limited (HKSE: 303), and Xorcom, a privately-held manufacturer of business telephony interfaces and appliances, announced today that the Endpoint Manager auto-provisioning tool in Xorcom's CompletePBX IP-PBX systems has been updated to include the latest VTech IP phone models.

The VTech compatible phones include ErisTerminal™ SIP Deskset models VSP715A, VSP725A and VSP735A, and ErisTerminal™ SIP Deskset model VSP600A. For a complete list of IP phones supported in the CompletePBX Endpoint Manager, visit the Xorcom Wiki. The partnership guarantees effortless provisioning and full interoperability between VTech IP phones and Xorcom IP-PBX systems, providing resellers and end users with an easily-deployable, cost-effective, high-quality, feature-rich phone system solution.

"This is a very exciting strategic partnership that offers tremendous opportunities for both companies," said Charles M.A. Williams, Sales Director, EMEA of VTech. "VTech's commitment to growing its SIP phone business, combined with Xorcom's expertise in the PBX industry, will bring great benefits to both parties."

Xorcom UK-based master distributor TeleSpeak, who facilitated the connection between VTech in Europe and Xorcom, is driving the first major implementation of the Xorcom and VTech partnership in the United Kingdom with an initial 100-phone deployment scheduled for later this month.
